HP's Photo sharing and printing service Snapfish as launched an iPhone app which lets you upload photos from your iPhone to your Snapfish albums

Users can download the snapfish applicaton from the App store for free and can upload, share and store several photos instantly from their iPhone.

You need to have a account with the service to use the app. Signup is possible through the app or through www.snapfish.in. You can upload your photos to the service and share them with multiple mobile numbers and email addresses.

"The explosive digital revolution in the photo finishing business has sparked off consolidation of various platforms in order to provide a rich photo sharing experience to the end user." said Bala Parthasarathy, Managing Director –Asia Pacific, Snapfish by HP. "We want to enrich user experience in the most new age and innovative ways that makes it convenient for our customers enjoy their pictures, whether it is in your homes, or your work place, or while you are on the move on your mobiles. The introduction of this Snapfish photo app has been an effort to create an integrated and easy click, share and store phenomenon for the next-gen iPhone users.”

One can print photos uploaded to the Snapfish service for as low as Rs.2.95 only (4x6 size) per photo

Looks like it has been launched on the indian iTunes store today. The app was launched in the US iTunes store last month.

How do you like the app or the service ?
